

I am opposed to allowing government surveillance of Internet traffic be it email or voice, etc.. While I understand the need for security, history tells us that a greater danger lies in the oppression of dissent and that security's misuse is not only rampant, it is so in our own great country. For this reason and others, individual privacy was one of the primary principles of our Founding Fathers and should be ours today.